NUMB. 121.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, MAY 15, to Saturday, MAY 22, 1736.

Capt. Baker arrived here laſt Wedneſday in 7 Weeks from the Land's End, by whom we have the following Advices from LONDON.

ALl the Talk at foreign Courts is changed from War to Weddings; that at Vienna takes up the Attention of Germany. They write from Paris, that King Auguſtus's eldeſt Son is ſoon expected there, to be contracted to the eldeſt Madam of France: From Madrid, that the King and Queen of Spain have wrote Letters with their own Hands to his Imperial Majeſty, and made ſome Overtures for a Match between Don Carlos and the youngeſt Archdutcheſs; but as that Princeſs is deſtin'd to the young Prince of Lorrain, his Royal Highneſs will content himſelf with marrying one of the Princeſſes of Lorrain; and they adviſe from Turin, that the Report of his Sardinian Majeſty's marrying the other, ſtill continues.

March 2. We are aſſured, by Private Letters from Lizbon, that an Expreſs is arrived there from the Weſt-Indies, with an Account of the Spaniards having taken 3 of his Majeſty's Brazil Ships.

The William, William Vittrey, Maſter bound from South-Carolina to Oporto, was loſt the 11th Inſtant, N. S on the Bar of Oporto.

March 3. The Right Hon. the Lord de la Warr ſets out on Friday next for Holland, in order to go to the Court of Gotha, to bring over her Serene Highneſs the Princeſs of Saxe-Gotha. It's nine Days Journey by Land from Holland to the ſaid Court.

We hear that the Day that the King declared in Council his Intention of marrying the Prince of Wales to Princeſs Auguſta of Saxe Gotha, the Lord Chancellor, accompany'd with ſome other Privy-Counſellor, repaired to his Royal Highneſs's Apartment, and on the Part of his Majeſty, made the three following Propoſals, viz. 'If his Royal Highneſs had an Inclination to marry? 'If the Princeſs of Saxe-Gotha, whom the 'King had fixed on for his Conſort, would be 'agreeable to him? And if he choſe that 'the Marriage ſhould be performed publickly or in private? 'Tis ſaid his Royal Highneſs anſwer'd, That he entertained very favourable Diſpoſitions for Matrimony, and was deſirous to enter into that State; That having always made it his Duty to conform to his Majeſty's Will, the Princeſs of Saxe-Gotha, or what other Princeſs his Majeſty ſhould have been pleaſed to chuſe for his Wife, would be infinitely agreeable to him; and that as for the laſt Article, He muſt ſubmit it to his Majeſty's Pleaſure to regulate the Ceremony of the Marriage as he ſhould think proper.' Then the Lord Chancellor and other Privy-Councellors returning, and having reported to the King his Royal Highneſs's Anſwer, his Majeſty declared in Publick the intended Nuptials.

The late great Storms and high Tides have laid all the Town of Oſtend under Water, as far as the firſt Story: When our Advices came away the Inhabitants had no other Proviſions but what they received in at their upper Windows from Boats, their Digues and Fortifications being almoſt ruined.

At Warſaw the Alarm and Suſpicion of a Conſpiracy continue. Some intercepted Letters of dangerous Conſequence are talked of, and the Precautions are doubled. The Palatine of Lublin has not ſucceeded in his Negociations for the Poliſh Lords at Koningsberg, whoſe abſolute Submiſſion is required upon general Promiſes of Favour: They flatter themſelves, however, that the French Ambaſſador at Vienna will procure them better Terms; and they are alſo applying to the Empreſs of Ruſſia to intercede for them.

March 4. Letters from Elſineur dated the 24th paſt, N. S. adviſe, that the Sea was quite frozen over, ſo that People walked on the Ice over the Sound, from Denmark to Sweden and back again, that five Ships coming from Dantzick, had been frozen in the Sea near Kioche, and were in great Danger of periſhing, but a

Meſſenger

Meſſenger had been diſpatch'd to aſſiſt them from the neareſt Port. Two of the Ships were Dutch, and 3 Engliſh.

On the 21 of Feb laſt, the Lamb, Capt. Morgan, was caſt away in Briſtol Channel, and 76 perſons were loſt, being moſt of them Soldiers of Col. Hargrave's Regiment, returning to Ireland, among them Capt Frankford and Capt Williamſon: But 40 were ſaved by getting up the Shrouds.

Custom-House Charlestown, South-Carolina, May 14, 1736

WHEREAS by the 32d Article of my Instructions from the Hon. the Commissioners of his Majesty's Customs, I am directed not to suffer any Boat, Sloop, or Vessel, imploy'd in carrying and conveying Goods on board of Ships from one place to another, or in trading with goods from one River or Creek to another, to take in any European goods, or any of the enumerated Plantation goods, or put the same on board, or on shore, without a Permit first had from me for that purpose. Notice is therefore hereby given to all persons whom it may concern, that, unless the Master of such Boat, Sloop or Vessels, and particularly of Periaugers, do not, from and after the 21st Day of this Instant, take out such Permits from my Office, I shall be obliged to put the Act of Parliament, on which the above Instruction is grounded, in full force against them, having been credibly informed, that great Quantity of enumerated Commodities have of late been put on board Vessels below the Fort, after clearing at all the Offices, in order to be carried to foreign Ports, contrary to Law, and to the great Detriment of his Majesty's Revenue, and that sundry Merchants of this Place are daily concern'd in carrying on a clandestine and illegal Trade with the Spaniards and other Foreigners, all which by the Duty of my Office I am obliged in the strictest manner to prevent, and therefore give this publick notice, that no persons concern'd may for the future pretend Ignorance thereof.
